“ When I was a young girl, Nita being my older cousin, I used to love to go to Aunt Jaunita and Uncle Buds to hang out with Nitsa. We would sit in her room. And listen to records on her record player. We would go outside and she would wrap me in the hammock that hung between two small trees and she would spin me around and around. I don't know how those trees held up? Christmas at Pops are my favorite memories.

“ A few years ago, Nita came to California for a visit. She wound up not going on her cruise, but instead spent the time with me and my family. She just wanted to rest a relax. On that Saturday, we all went to Lake Mission Viejo to relax and have, which is a normal summer thing. She sat in a beach chair, under the easy up and was in love with the whole thing, even the hot lifeguards. She kept yelling "HEY" at them...I don't know if I've ever seen a group of men so scared. Nits and I had the BEST laugh over that. She was in tears when I got her to the airport. She didn't want to go yet and promised that she would come back
